

Product Development Trainee

As a Product Development Trainee you will work with your team to develop, source, and execute all of Kohl's private and exclusive label brands - the ones that are ONLY available at Kohl's (LC Lauren Conrad, Apt. 9, Sonoma, etc.)

What You'll Do

- Identify white space opportunities through competitive shopping - Ex. What are Kohl's major competitors selling? Are there opportunities within our assortment?
- Use business skills like collaboration, communication, business analytics and increase product specific knowledge
- Perform daily activities such as color reviews, vendor emails, meeting setup, and product reviews
- Facilitate communication with vendors to ensure timely and quality product

This is you

- Undergraduate Senior or college graduate
- You have a passion for all aspects of product: sales, market relevancy, textiles, etc.
- You work with a sense of urgency and adapt well to change
- You're a great communicator and get along with a range of personalities and backgrounds
- You love being a leader and working with a team to drive and deliver incredible results

Career Path

- Product Development Coordinator
- Associate Product Manager
- Product Manager

Your major is probably something like

- Retail Management
- Consumer Science
- Marketing
- Textile Sciences
- Merchandising
- Communications

Perks!

- 5 weeks of advanced training so you can hit the ground running as a Product Development Coordinator!
- Competitive salary
- Ongoing classroom style learning
- Benefits
- Associate discount